Have a heart...

It will come as no big surprise to learn that heart disease is the biggest killer in the Western world. Government campaigns constantly tell us about its causes and what we can do to prevent it. But why is it that so many of us still do not know our own cholesterol count, or its importance in the development of heart disease?

In a new six-part series called Healthy Hearts, The Learning Channel (TLC for short), launched just last month, takes a look at many of the different factors influencing heart disease including high blood pressure, smoking, poor diet, high cholesterol and poor exercise, offering advice on how to live a much healthier life.

Presented by Jane Walmsley every Wednesday at 12pm, the series also questions why the British are so resistant to change in their dietary and exercise habits.

...and win an exercise bike worth more than £300

We've got together with The Learning Channel to put you on the right track to a healthier lifestyle. In this month's customer competition you could win a brand new Kettlers Trophy exercise bike worth over £300! BSkyB's new signings BSkyB has bought four of America's biggest new prime-time shows, including a spin-off from the hit Beverly Hills 90210.

Melrose Place, set among young adults in one of LA's trendiest suburbs, heads Sky's acquisitions list and will be part of a new line-up on the entertainment channel Sky One this Autumn.

Sky is the first TV network outside the US to acquire the rights to the four series, which feature the next wave of young 90s faces to be splashed across teen magazines.

The line-up includes: The Heights, a story of working class kids and their rock band; The Round Table, a drama about young law enforcers in Washington; and 2000 Malibu Road, starring Drew Barrymore and Jennifer Beales, which follows four female housemates in the hothouse passions and intrigues of Malibu Beach.

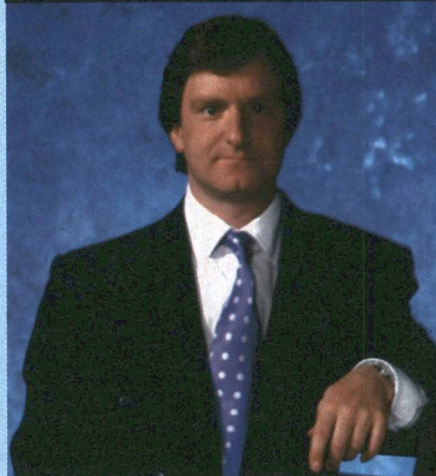

All four are produced by Spelling Television.

Sky's director of programming, Gary Davey, said: 'This four-programme package is a great acquisition for Sky One.'

'Never before has one producer delivered such an impressive line-up of new shows in one season. Aaron Spelling is the master of television series production and these programmes show how brilliantly he has captured the mood and style of the young 90s generation.' ■

Martin goes batty

MOST JOURNALISTS HAVE a scoop they are particularly proud of. In the case of Martin Frizzell, who recently joined Sky News's current affairs programme Newsline from TV-am, the scoop of a lifetime wore a black mask, underpants outside his tights and hung around with a teenage boy dressed in the same apparel.

'It was during the TVam strike four years ago and we were running the Batman series, which started the whole cult thing off again,' he recalls.

'I was sitting in the Washington office and thought "Where is Batman these days? What happened to Adam West?"

'We tracked him down to a ranch in Idaho, flew over there and ended up spending a night with him at his ski resort. We interviewed him in his snow-covered garden and it generated so much interest that he came over to Britain to do a promotional tour.

'And I got my picture taken with Batman!'

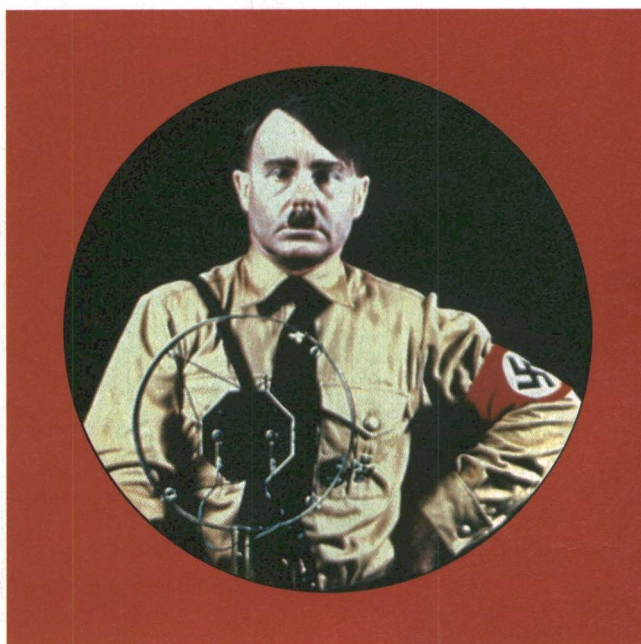

THE FUEHRER'S BEST FRIEND

WORLD WAR II as seen through the eyes of one of Hitler's right-hand men is the subject of the thrilling two-part mini-drama Inside the Third Reich showing on Sky One this month.

Based on the best-selling memoirs of convicted Nazi war criminal Albert Speer, Hitler's chief architectural planner and minister of armaments and war production, the series examines the overwhelming power Hitler had over his countrymen, and his ability to manipulate them into carrying out inhumane acts to prove their allegiance to the party.

Albert Speer was considered one of the Fuehrer's only friends. His exceptional architectural talents soon came to the attention of Hitler, who promised him a successful career if he worked for the Nazi Party.

Speer became completely faithful to the Party, and turned a blind eye to atrocities like the persecution of the Jews that he knew were taking place.

After the war he was sentenced to 20 years in Spandau prison for crimes against humanity and for war crimes.

The series stars Derek Jacobi as Hitler, Rutger Hauer as Speer, Bythe Danner as Margaret Speer, and Sir John Gielgud as Albert Speer, Sr. ■

Murphy Brown spells trouble!

The US Presidential election has recently been shaken by the Murphy Brown affair!

Sky One viewers will be familiar with the thoroughly modern Murphy, played by Candice Bergen in this American comedy series.

Its heroine is a tough, go-getting TV interviewer on a top-rated programme. She's billed as being able to handle anything, though her personal life can get a little complicated.

Devotees of the series will eventually discover just how complicated when Murphy becomes an unmarried mother in a later episode.

The adventures of this independent woman have been popular on both sides of the Atlantic for several years.

But not with US Vice President Dan Quayle!

On the campaign trail he cited Ms Brown as a symbol of the break-up of the American family and traditional family values.

Now if Murphy ever manages to get the Vice President on her programme she may have some pretty uncomfortable questions to throw at him.

After all, how anyone becomes deputy leader of the free world without being able to spell properly (Mr Quayle was subsequently televised amending the perfectly correct spelling of a little schoolboy) would offer a probing journalist like Murphy Brown an irresistible line of questioning.

Cooks' choice

If your mouth waters at the sound of Tortellinis of Lobster, Chunky Fish Soup, Welsh Lamb with a Garlic Sauce and Brioche Butter Pudding, then Take Six Cooks will be a delight for you to watch.

Take Six Cooks is a six-part series in which six famous cooks (Michael Bourdin, Marco Pierre White, Gunn Eriksen Brown, Paul Gayler, Franco Taruschio and Robert Mey) give a fascinating insight into the skills and secrets used by top chefs in creating hors d'oeuvres, soups and sauces, fish, vegetables, meat and dessert. ■

Wild about Ross

I LIKE watching Bravo, and remember enjoying The Wild, Wild West over 20 years ago. I recollect reading an article relating to the late Ross Martin. Did he die, and if so when?

Mrs C A Cavanagh
Raynes Park

Ross Martin was born Martin Rosenblatt in Grodek, Poland in 1920. He moved to the US as an infant, was brought up in New York and later received a law degree. Active in radio and on Broadway, he also made several films such as Conquest of Space (1955) and The Great Race (1965), as well as TV series like The Wild, Wild West and Mr Lucky. He died of a heart attack on 3rd July 1981 while playing tennis in 100 degree heat.

HIT MAN

MTV's Hit List UK broadcasts the UK charts three days ahead of the BBC's Top of the Pops, featuring the hottest sounds of the week and spotlighting new entries and high climbers as well as the nation's number one.

The show provides a platform for new singles seeking European exposure, and dips into other generic music charts like Music Video, Dance, Air Play and Indie.

'Artists from the Indie field are generally exciting and full of energy,' says presenter Paul King, who has recently completed work on an instrumental album.

The UK music scene has always been a leading force in pop music, and MTV's Hit List UK is a must for European fans who want to keep up to date with what's occurring musically in Britain.

▶▶ MTV: MTV's Hit List UK Mondays at 5.00pm, Tuesdays 11.00pm ◀◀

SUMMER'S here and the MTV cameras have been out on the road this year capturing highlights from Europe's top open air gatherings.

Festival Reports will bring daily reports from the scenes of some of the hottest musical events of the year, including performances, interviews and festival revellers.

Featured festivals include London's Finsbury Park, Germany's Rock AM Ring, Tourhout and Wercher in Belgium, Roskilde in Denmark, Leysin in Switzerland and Belgium's Belga Beach, which played host to rock giants like Bryan Adams, James Brown, David Byrne, Crowded House, The Cult, Marillion and Lou Reed.

Also appearing are more specialised performers like John Trudell, a dynamic Native American poet who played at Roskilde in June.

Trudell is well known as one of America's most outspoken activists for Native American Rights.

For 10 years he was the spokesman for the American Indian Movement (AIM), taking part in the occupation of Alcatraz in 1969 and supporting prisoner of conscience Leonard Peltier.

In the late 1970s Trudell took a different platform. His wife, three children and mother-in-law were killed in a mysterious fire after he publicly burned the American flag in Washington in protest at the treatment of Native Americans. As a form of therapy, he turned to the spoken word.

At the suggestion of Jackson Browne he teamed up with legendary Kiowa Indian guitarist the late Jesse Ed Davis and formed the Graffiti Band.

AKA Graffiti Man is an extraordinary debut album which forges traditional American Indian music with rock'n'roll.

The songs represent the broad spectrum of Trudell's concerns, from the most global to the most personal, from incisive song-poems containing images of the Gulf War in Bombs Over Baghdad to loving remembrances of his wife in Tina Smiled.

With AKA Graffiti Man taking his powerful song-poetry to a new, wider audience, Trudell's visibility is increasing elsewhere in the media. He is interviewed at length in Michael Apted's movie Incident at Oglala, and is also featured in the forthcoming Thunderheart with Val Kilmer and Sam Shepard.

Jumping down Carl's throat!

SAID TO be in tip-top shape and capable of extending his remarkable world record, long-jumper Mike Powell is unlikely to be one of Carl Lewis's favourite people. Powell is the man who last year in Tokyo sensationally inherited Bob Beamon's world record, which had stood for 23 years. Lewis had pursued that record through an undefeated sequence of 65 long-jump competitions. During the World Championship Lewis was jumping beautifully, seemingly heading for his accustomed first place only for Powell to jump out of his skin for the coveted record. 'Mike had one great jump,' said Lewis. 'He may never do it again.' Powell retorted: 'If Carl wants to say negative things about me, it's only going to fuel my motivation.' For the record, Powell's jump was 21 inches longer than a double-decker bus. ■

Bubka is a pole apart from his main rivals . . .

'IT IS UNREALISTIC to think of defeating him,' says Hungarian pole vaulter Istvan Bagyula of his Ukrainian rival Sergei Bubka. 'We can only dream that it is possible.' World Champion Bubka can virtually set new world records at will – and when he is offered £18,000 he does so, usually a centimetre at a time so as to maximise his money-spinning potential. Bubka has single-handedly taken vaulting through the 20ft barrier by using his explosive pace and a pretty rigid pole. If anyone's dream of beating him in Barcelona is realised, it will probably be the major shock of the Games. ■

Liz is ready to do the biz

BRITAIN'S best bet for gold on the track is Scotland's Liz McColgan (pictured below). Her legendary dedication to training – she went for a five-mile jog the day before giving birth! – has brought her to the stage where she is favourite to win the 10,000m. She's a winner on grass, track, boards or road and recently broke the world 5000m indoor record and won the 10,000m world title. Barcelona is likely to be her last track event. She will then probably concentrate on marathons and road races, which should allow time for having more children. ■

Gold for Christie?

IN THE ABSENCE of the world's fastest man, Carl Lewis, the US is represented by Dennis Mitchell (fourth in Seoul) and Olympics newcomers Mark Witherspoon and Leroy Burrell. Mitchell's victory in the US Olympic trials is encouraging for Britain's Linford Christie, who has already beaten the American this season. Can Christie now improve on the silver medal he won in Seoul? ■

Kriss is riding high!

Kriss Akabusi's career has come on in leaps and bounds. Here he tells 'Cable Guide' about his build-up to Barcelona. Interview: Robin Jarossi. Photos: Action Plus Photographic

ONE OF the most inspiring moments of the 1991 Tokyo World

Championships occurred when Kriss Akabusi willed and strained his way past America's Antonio Pettigrew to win gold for Britain in the 4 x 400m relay.

It was a stunning performance by Kriss and the team. Pettigrew was the individual 400m champion and the Americans had two or three relay squads in reserve that would have been faster than most other country's A teams.

It was another success that helped to explain the esteem in which 33-year-old Akabusi is held by athletes and public alike.

'What is notable about him is that he is the oldest in the team,' says Tim Hutchings, the 5000m runner who was in past Olympic and Commonwealth Games squads with Akabusi.

'His longevity is remarkable. He is still out there knocking out better times than almost anyone in the world.'

The Grand Old Man, as Hutchings refers to Akabusi, is adamant that the World Championship success will not cause any big heads when the British relay team takes to the track in Barcelona.

'It's not in our nature to be cocky,' Akabusi told Cable Guide.

'Obviously we were really happy winning last year but that's history. In all the text books the American relay team is the best in the world.'

'They've got to be favourites even though we are the World Champions. They had four teams run faster than any other team in the world.'

Finishing an unaccustomed and, for them, humiliating second is all the incentive the Americans will need. Britain v the US in the 4 x 400m relay will be one of the most anxiously awaited events at the Olympics. Are the Americans slipping?

'I think that last year they got a wake-up call that the rest of the world is catching them up,' says Akabusi. 'We have obviously matured over the years. We've had a great tradition in the relay and last year was the fruition of 50 years of hard work in relay running.'

IN AN EFFORT to keep the US athletes in the also-ran slot, Kriss and other Britons used American training facilities during the early summer.

He joined Roger Black, John Regis, Marcus Adam and Daley Thompson at Irvine University, California. There Kriss trained and kept up his studies for his religion and history BA degree.

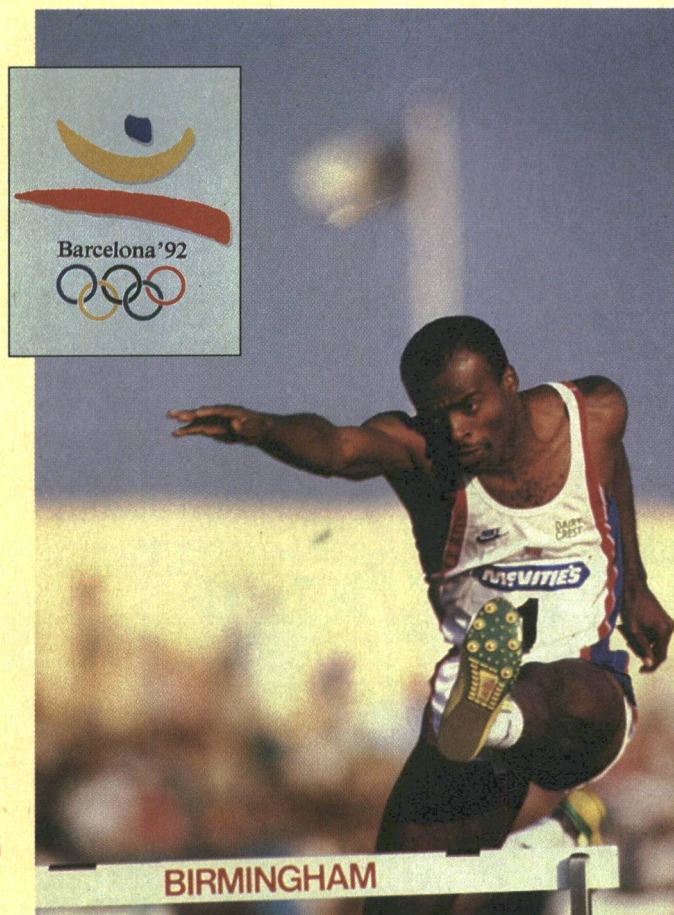

'It went well,' he says. 'We have all got individual training programmes but like any social

See the Sports Diary starting on page 176 for a full rundown of all Olympic coverage group you know each other, you help each other and you train with each other when appropriate.'

The routine included three hours a day on the track followed by studying, a massage, a dip in the Jacuzzi and general relaxation.

This Olympics may be Akabusi's last chance to add further glories to an exciting career. He only made the switch to 400m hurdles at the age of 28 and went on to be crowned European champion.

▲ Kriss Akabusi: will he be jumping for joy in Barcelona?

MAKING A SUCCESS of the new event when some predicted failure means the most to Akabusi now.

He comments: 'The most fulfilling part of my athletics career was the European Championships 400m hurdles in 1990. When I won and broke David Hemery's record of 20 years I fulfilled all my ambitions.'

'Obviously last year's World Championships was a dream come true. I'm going to the Olympics now and I would love to come back with more medals, but nothing will take away the feeling I had in 1990.'

He runs on Christian faith and will-power and they have brought him some stirring achievements. 'I am a Christian, I know that my talent is God-given and I run for Jesus Christ, to glorify God.'

And after Barcelona? 'I'm looking forward to getting back to my studies but I've got no hard-and-fast plans.

'I've got to spend more time with my family [wife Monika and daughters Shakira and Ashanti]. They get squeezed out the nearer you get to the Games. I have got a great family. They appreciate the pressures I have and they help me so I'm looking forward to spending time with them.'

Tim Hutchings feels Kriss has missed out on one honour: that of being captain of the Olympic athletes in Barcelona instead of Linford Christie, who has been skipper since 1989. 'Akabusi is someone who deserves that honour,' says Hutchings, who is also an Olympic commentator for Eurosport.

'It would have been nice for the honour to be passed from one senior member to another.' ■

In League with TV . . .

THE BIGGEST-EVER deal for British Rugby League begins this month, with the Stones Bitter Championship, the Premiership and international fixtures between Great Britain and France, and England and Wales coming to Sky Sports.

Rugby League Preview will give the low-down on the season's line-up, with Eddie Hemmings and Mike Stephenson returning from the Test Tour down under to introduce another League season.

Since its launch in April last year Sky has shown the best Rugby League from Australia and England, and Eddie and Stevo have become established as cult figures within the game in the process. The first big game of this year is the Charity Shield. As with the Charity Shield in football, the game is the traditional curtain-raiser to the season, played between Cup winners and league champions.

To confuse the issue this year, Wigan became the first-ever team to win the triple: Championship, Premiership and Challenge Cup. But rather than play against themselves, Championship runners-up St Helens have been chosen for the spectacle. Wigan have not lost a cup tie since February 1987, as the team has taken five titles in succession, and they hold the record number of titles in all three competitions. ■

THE NFL TOUCHES DOWN ON SCREENSPORT

ASTRONAUTS in space tune into it, marriages have broken up because of it and everybody in the world of sports knows about it.

The 'it' is Super Bowl which is the climax of the NFL's American football weekly extravaganza from September to January. Coverage starts this month on Screensport. And for the first time, cable viewers can see the American Bowl series which will stir up London, Berlin and Tokyo this year.

The NFL has consistently been the No 1 American sport on European television throughout the last 10 years. It attracts a young audience and doesn't discriminate between the sexes. The guys love the power and strength, the girls love the fun and the fashion.

And NFL football IS fun. The crowds doll themselves up in fancy dress, the bands play and the cheerleaders (oh, perhaps THAT'S why the guys watch?) provide the necessary glamour.

Nick Halling, Screensport's play-by-play expert and former American football publisher, believes that on the playing side the glamour will come from the Philadelphia Eagles.

'Philly have all the potential and yet have never realised it. Their star defense man Reggie White has said that it's this year or never.

'That might be an exaggeration, but if their quarterback Randall Cunningham comes back fit (he was out virtually all last year with injury) and new signing, the enigmatic Herschel Walker, fits in to the offense, then the Eagles will fly to the Super Bowl.

'In the AFC, it's between the Kansas City Chiefs and Houston Oilers. I like the way Marty Schottenheimer runs the Chiefs, he's used to success. For the Oilers, they have a great quarterback in Warren Moon who can lift a team to the top on his own talents. He deserves to make it.'

Before the league action begins, the defending Super Bowl champions, the Washington Redskins, and the NFL's Team of the Eighties, the San Francisco 49ers, meet at Wembley in the ninth annual American Bowl in London.

These pre-season games are now so popular that Berlin and Tokyo have been added again this year. Screensport will cover all three of those exhibitions plus Monday Night Football (shown on Tuesdays), a weekly highlights show, with playoffs and the Super Bowl in January.

Screensport's coverage starts on August 4 with highlights of Dallas vs Houston from Tokyo, continues with Denver vs Miami from Berlin on August 16 and is completed by Washington vs San Francisco from London on August 17. This American Bowl series is a mere taster for the regular season games kick-off in

September. ■ John Bramley

Here we go!

A NEW ERA in televised football takes off this month as Sky Sports starts its coverage of the new Premier League in England.

When BSkyB took the ball off ITV in the stunning £304million deal that guaranteed exclusive live access to the country's top League action, armchair fans were anticipating a soccer bonanza.

Now it is here. The programme schedules are included in the new listings section of Cable Guide and they promise a new in-depth view of the national sport.

Here's an outline of the first week's coverage.

The season's curtain-raiser, the Charity Shield match between champions Leeds and FA Cup winners

Liverpool, is the first match to get the live Sky Sports treatment on Saturday 8th (2.00pm).

On the following Monday at 8.00pm there's a two-hour preview of the televised season and the 60 live League games in store (in all, 85 England internationals, Premier League and FA Cup games will be shown by the channel).

On Friday 14th (6.00pm) there's the hour-long weekend preview Sky Soccer Weekend.

And on Sunday 16th it is the main event of Sky's soccer week, the five-hour FA Premier League Super Sunday including the first live League clash of the season.

Monday 17th sees another live League match for evening viewers at 7.00pm.

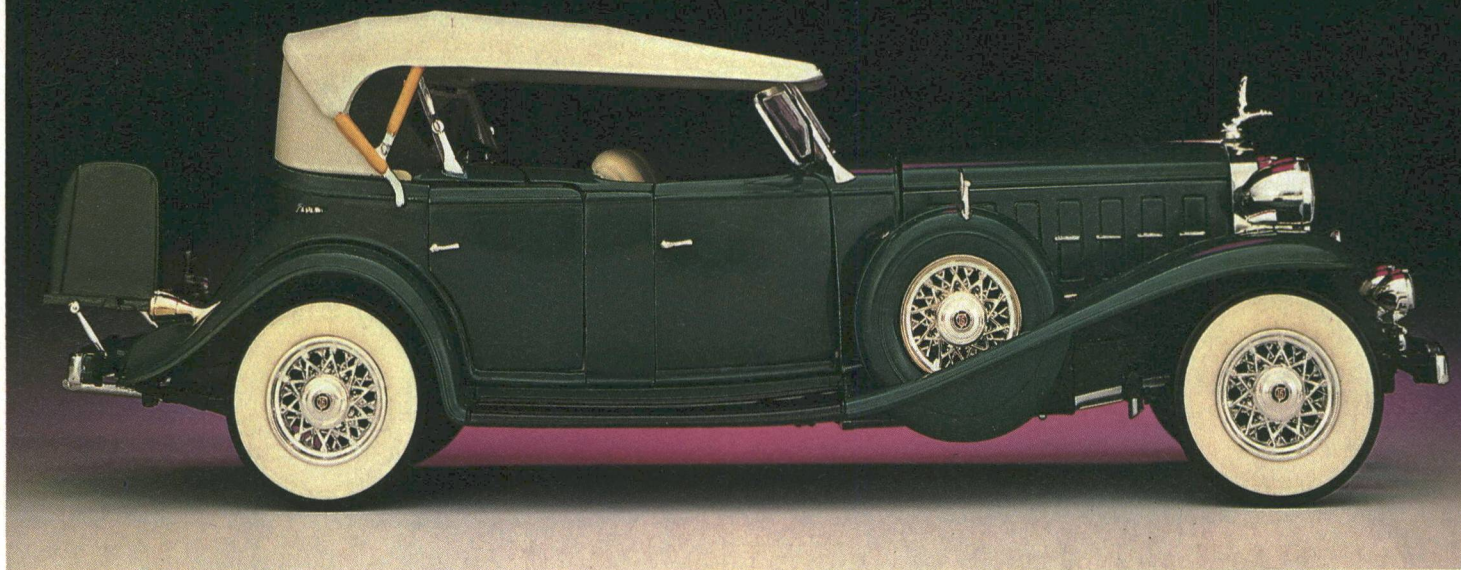

This will be the shape of the new-look coverage for the 1992-93 season. ■

THE 1932

CADILLAC V-16

SPORT PHAETON

A magnificent classic – crafted as an engineered die-cast metal replica.

Actual length 9½".

Your model can be displayed with the convertible roof either lowered or raised.

A legend you can hold in your hands.

Sixteen cylinders... the very words imply an automobile of extraordinary proportions. Indeed, at the time, the engine of the 1932 Cadillac V-16 Sport Phaeton was hailed as a work of art.

Of the 300 V-16 automobiles Cadillac built in 1932, only two were Sport Phaetons. They are certainly among the rarest cars ever built and probably the best looking, most powerful and luxurious of all Cadillacs.

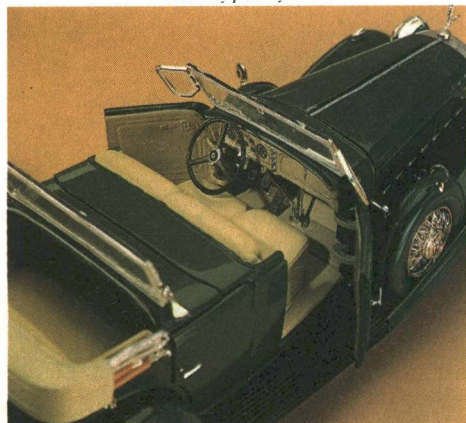

And now, for a surprisingly modest price, you can own and proudly display this hand-assembled replica of the 1932 Cadillac V-16 Sport Phaeton.

A most desirable replica

This 1:24 scale, die-cast metal replica of the 1932 Cadillac V-16 Sport Phaeton captures all the special details that made the original car so extraordinary.

You will be delighted at how smoothly all four doors open, how realistically the front wheels respond to the steering wheel, and how both sides of the bonnet raise to reveal the magnificent engine. The precise engineering of this connoisseur's model reminds one of a fine, spring-run watch.

Interior: Genuine leather is used to hand-upholster the interior. The controls and dashboard instrumentation are all accurately portrayed.

Over 130 parts go into the making of this replica. All the important components – the body, chassis, drivetrain and engine block – are crafted of metal. The seats are covered in real leather. The tyres are genuine rubber.

To create such a detailed replica requires an enormous amount of time and effort. Every single component must be inspected before assembly. The metal parts must be polished before they can be painted. Finally, and perhaps most remarkably, each car is actually hand-waxed.

Surprisingly modest price

The Cadillac V-16 is the stuff of dreams – but the original issue price of this Cadillac V-16 replica is only £79.95, payable in three monthly instalments of just £26.65 each. This is an exclusive commission available only by direct subscription from the Danbury Mint; it is not available in any store.

As an owner of the Cadillac V-16 you will later have the right, but not the obligation, to purchase other models of classic cars.

Satisfaction guaranteed

To reserve a Cadillac V-16 in your name, you need send no money now. You will be billed in three convenient monthly instalments, your first in advance of shipment. If you prefer, you may charge each monthly instalment to your Visa or Access credit card account.

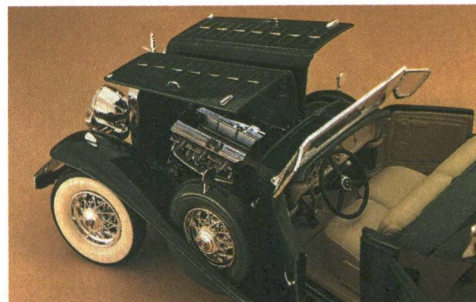

If you are not completely satisfied, for whatever reason, you may return your Cadillac V-16 within 30 days of receipt for a prompt refund or replacement.

Return of the Incredible Hulk!

My US sources tell me there is a hot rumour that Hulk Hogan could appear at Wembley's Superslam 92 as the guest of the Ultimate Warrior. This follows the news that the Warrior (Jim Hellwigg) is trying to entice Hogan to a rematch at the earliest possible date. He is confident that he will win the heavyweight title at Summerslam 92 and he says, 'At Wrestlemania VI we tested both our forces, my Warriors against your Hulkmaniacs. What the world needs to know is whether Hulkmania is stronger than the power of my Warriors. I will beat Randy 'Macho Man' Savage at Summerslam 92 and I will give you, Hulk Hogan, a title shot. You are my friend, not my enemy. I will always respect you, Hulk Hogan, but we will meet again. Do you accept my offer?' Wow! What a match that would be. Let's hope Hulk Hogan accepts the challenge and does return to the ring.

Disastrous success

At Springfield, Massachusetts, the tag team Natural Disasters beat Money Inc by disqualification, Virgil beat Skinner, Davey Boy got revenge on Repoman, Bret Hart beat Shawn Michaels, the Bushwackers fought the new WWF tag team Double Trouble, and the Ultimate Warrior got his own back on Papa Shongo. Sources say the Warrior did the job well, pinning Shongo to a triumphant cheer from a packed auditorium.

WCW ex-heavyweight champ Lex Luger has been involved in a motorcycle accident. He suffered crushed elbows, bruises and cuts. Luger, now a prominent figure in WBF Superstars, hopes to be fit again in the next three to six months. ■

Hulk history

As speculation rages over Hulk Hogan's rumoured comeback, Cable Guide takes a closer look at the greatest heavyweight wrestler of recent years.

Born Terry Gollea on August 11th 1952, the Hulkster was a staggering 6'2" at the age of 14, and found fame in 1979 when he met Andre the Giant for the first time after signing with the WWF.

In 1982 he appeared in Rocky III at the request of Sylvester Stallone, and shortly afterwards won his first major battle when he defeated Antonio Lonoki in Japan.

Over the next few years he fought the best the WWF could offer, proving that there was only one champ when he body-slammed Andre the Giant in front of 93,500 fans at Wrestlemania III.

A second movie, No Holds Barred, followed in 1989, after which the Hulk was injured in an earthquake. He received more than 500,000 get-well cards.

Having done more over the years both for charity and the sport of wrestling, Hulk wants to spend more time with his family and has decided to retire from the ring... or has he? ■

Britain. There is a lot of pressure on me but I'm not coming to Wembley to lose.'

Once the Bulldog is off the leash at the famous stadium all that pent-up ambition should mangle the Hit Man.

The last time the Bulldog was at Wembley he was a spectator watching rock stars paying tribute to Freddie Mercury. The next time he is there he should be the one receiving the acclaim from a specially built stage.

'Me and Bret respect each other but when we step into the ring that respect goes out of the window because I'm bringing the title back to Britain, where it belongs,' says Davey Boy.

'Our records are excellent. He knows I'm going to be 100 per cent fit. I will be in better shape than he will be.'

◀ Bret Hart

'It is like England going for the World Cup at Wembley. I have got butterflies going through my stomach and Summerslam is still weeks away.'

Davey Boy Smith came from a modest semi-detached house in Wigan to enjoy a millionaire's lifestyle in Florida. Beating the Hit Man will complete his dream success.

As the tension mounts many of the WWF's top stars are gripped by nerves.

Hacksaw Jim Duggan, wielding a cricket bat instead of his usual two-by-four plank, said: 'The hair on the back of my neck is standing up. If you want to see some fighting, you'll see some fighting.'

The Ultimate Warrior said: 'It's going to be an absolute pleasure to go up against the Macho Man to prove I can be the champ.'

Fans in about 60 countries will be watching the most prestigious WWF event ever held in Europe to see if he is right. ■

Coen Crossing

STYLISH, WITTY and impossibly convoluted, Miller's Crossing is perhaps the most original and fascinating of the recent spate of gangster movies.

It is a classy period yarn set in a beautifully recreated 1930s gangster milieu, featuring stunning bursts of violent action and verbal dexterity. The film was directed by Hollywood's current alternative darlings Joel and Ethan Coen.

The Coen's, who made an auspicious debut in 1984 with the tortuous Blood Simple, have compounded their reputation as today's most innovative filmmakers with Raising Arizona, Crossing and their recent Cannes triumph Barton Fink.

The pair's forthcoming movie is the $30million The Hudsucker

Complex, which promises to be their most ambitious yet. It will be produced by action supremo Joel Silver.

Miller's Crossing stars Gabriel Byrne as Tom, a brooding, doleful Irish tough guy who works as an enforcer and adviser for influential crime boss Leo (Albert Finney, who delivers one of his finest film performances in years).

But the ever-loyal Tom is forced to break away in order to clear up problems with rival gangster Johnny Caspar (John Polito) and small-time hustler and trouble-maker Bernie Bernbaum (John Turturro).

To complicate things even further, both Tom and Leo are in love with Bernie's sister Verna (Marcia Gay Harden in her feature film debut), a fiercely independent character who throws many carefully laid plans into turmoil.

Film buffs should keep an eye out for Coen friend and sometime collaborator Sam Raimi, as well as a heavily made up Frances McDormand, who made her screen debut in Blood Simple. ■

Heart of darkness

CLINT EASTWOOD takes a break from tough guy heroics to direct and star in a bold and fascinating drama set in the heart of Africa. One of the world's top box-office draws for almost 25 years, Clint Eastwood has won a reputation as one of America's most versatile and respected film directors.

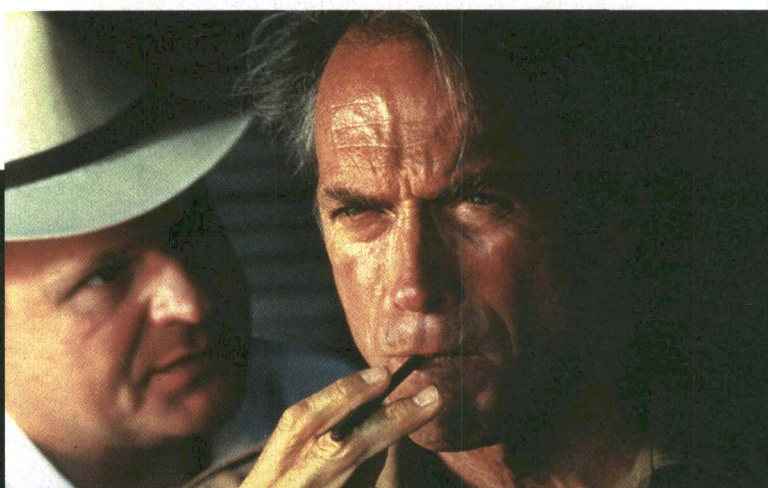

White Hunter, Black Heart marks his 14th outing behind the camera, following his most personal and highly praised directorial offering so far, 1988's Charlie Parker biopic Bird.

Set in Africa during the 1950s, the film is based on Peter Viertel's 1953 novel, which recounts events on the set of John Huston's classic adventure The African Queen.

As well as directing, Eastwood plays the brilliant, strong-willed and obsessive director John Wilson, a figure clearly based on the late Huston himself.

Wilson takes his Hollywood crew deep into the heart of Africa to film an adventure screenplay written by his old friend Peter Verrill (Jeff Fahey).

Once there, the drive to shoot the complicated film is gradually overwhelmed by Wilson's personal obsession to shoot an elephant. Sweeping everything aside in pursuit of this goal, Wilson pushes the production, his cast and crew and himself to breaking point.

Eastwood is joined by George Dzundza, best-remembered in Cimino's The Deer Hunter, Marisa Cabaret Berenson and Alun Armstrong.

This summer Eastwood is back on the big screen in Unforgiven, a return to the western genre with which his name will now be forever associated.

After that he relinquishes the directorial reins to Wolfgang P Petersen when he revisits Dirty Harry-style action-adventure territory in In the Line of Fire, the story of a Secret Service agent on the trail of a Presidential assassin. ■

INVENTIVE, VISUALLY sumptuous and smartly scripted, director Joel Schumacher's supernatural chiller Flatliners features a host of young stars including Kiefer Sutherland, Julia Roberts, Kevin Bacon, William Baldwin and Oliver Platt.

It tells of five medical students who embark on a series of daring scientific experiments to explore the last uncharted region known to man: death.

Along with his fellow students, Nelson Wright (Sutherland) travels between life and death, taking turns to sonal after-lives which brings them back to the real world haunted and changed, and paying the price for trespassing where mortals do not belong.

The story evolved in the mind of writer Peter Filardi after a friend had a near-death experience on the operating table.

'I think every writer tries to do something new and fresh,' observes Filardi.

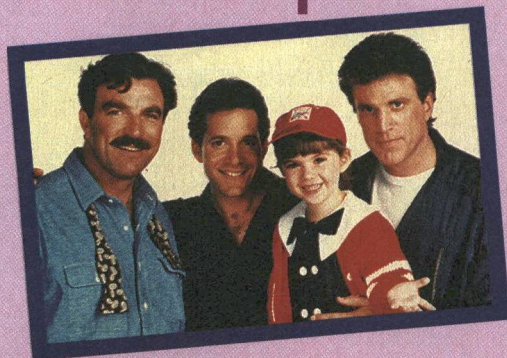

'The West has been done, space has been charted, and it seems the only frontiers left comes from ourselves.'

Spectacular special effects figure large in this impressive production, but the film's spirit is more human than hi-tech. 'Everybody has experienced loss and wished they had said or done something they didn't get a chance to,' says Julia Roberts. 'This movie is about finding those opportunities.' ■

Good Companions

AFTER THE success of Three Men and a Baby, Tom Selleck, Steve Guttenberg and Ted Danson return in the sequel to one of the most popular comedies of the 1980s

Ted Danson, who won an Emmy Award for his portrayal of barkeep Sam in Cheers, enjoyed further big-screen success in the smash hit comedy sequel Three Men and a Little Lady.

The 1987 original Three Men and a Baby had the good fortune to create a screen chemistry between the stars that turned it into the highest grossing film of the year in America.

The engaging magnetism of the paternal pals, along with the charm of young actress Robin Weissman (as daughter Mary) and the fresh English settings, brought audiences back for more.

The sequel took the American crew across the Atlantic to England, where they settled in the small Cotswold town of Banbury. In order to present a new, English slant, a host of native actors and actresses were employed, including Christopher Cazenove, and RSC performers Fiona Shaw of My Left Foot fame and Sheila Hancock.

Leonard Nimoy who directed the first movie was replaced for the sequel by Dirty Dancing's Emile Ardolino, who was also the man behind the camera on Whoopi Goldberg's current US smash Sister Act.

'I thought the story was very funny and touching at the same time,' said Ardolino of Three Men and a Little Lady.

'It was also quite distinct from the first movie with a strong identity of its own. I saw the possibility of a highly entertaining film that could also engage an audience emotionally.' ■

TONY HANCOCK, The Lad Himself

‘Comedy’, he once said, ‘is frustration, misery, boredom, worry...all the things people suffer from’. In fact it was all the things from which Tony Hancock was suffering and it’s undoubtedly what made him one of Britain’s unique comic talents. Forget the misery behind the mask of the clown, here was a Pagliaccio who wore his lot on his sleeve and didn’t mind going on about it at great length. J.B. Priestley, reviewing Hancock in the early days, concluded ‘Good clowns never try to be funny; they are very serious but eager and hopeful creatures lost in a hostile world’. Though never lost on celluloid, the quintessential Hancock never made it from East Cheam to the silver screen. TV classics like the ‘The Blood Donor’ and ‘Radio Ham’ were to prove the pinnacle of his promising but much-troubled career. The system being what it was in the early sixties, it was inevitable that a much-loved radio and television performer like Hancock, would be asked to commit his talents to film. The lad himself believed he was destined to be an international film star (if you can believe he ever believed anything about himself). Nevertheless, Tony Hancock’s films on Bravo in August are two highly evocative and very watchable pieces for anyone who ever chuckled along at the goings-on in ‘Railway Cuttings’. ‘The Rebel’ was Hancock’s first film and his last collaboration with writers Galton & Simpson. He plays a frustrated 9 to 5 clerk who throws off his bowler hat and umbrella for the life of an artist in Paris. Irene Handl is a gem as Mrs Cravat and watch for a young, sober-ish Oliver Reed and nymphette Nanette Newman before she was to go on to squeaky cleanliness and Fairy Liquid. Some vintage Hancock amongst it all. ‘The Punch & Judy Man’ was his second and last starring role in a movie, this time written by Phillip Oakes and Hancock himself. It has some excellent moments - like the sequence in a milk bar where Hancock and a small boy face each other eating ice creams. Hancock hated ice cream, the story goes, but kept going by gargling with vodka between takes. Good idea. See you next month.

AUGUST

Armed only with a toothy grin and a ukelele, in those dismal early war years George Formby was undoubtedly one of Britain's secret weapons. From 1936 to 1945 he was the country's top cinema box office draw, making a total of 22 films - nothing too sophisticated, just optimistic, broad slapstick comedies that quickly allowed a troubled audience to forget their problems and have some fun, as George got in and out of all kinds of scrapes but always finished up with a song and a girl. A two month George Formby season starts in August on Bravo premiering Fridays at 3.30pm.

BRAVO

Here come the heroes, filling the small screen with their daring deeds, making their patch a safer place for decent folk to live -whether its upstate New York, downtown New Orleans, or far flung reaches of the galaxy.

Flash back!

▲ Buster Crabbe as Flash Gordon – saviour of the universe

BUSTER CRABBE was an Olympic athlete who followed fellow swimmer-turned-Tarzan Johnny Weismuller to Hollywood, and made his name playing the ape-man for a rival studio. But unlike Weismuller, who became typecast, Crabbe moved into westerns and adventure serials, and was soon the idol of millions as Alex Raymond's 25th-Century newspaper strip hero Flash Gordon.

Between 1936 and 1940 Flash's death-defying adventures in space featured in three wild fantasy serials that brought a weekly treat of nail-biting intergalactic warfare and climactic cliff-hangers to children's Saturday matinees.

Crabbe was joined in his battles of wit and wills by Jean Rogers, as his companion Dale Arden, Frank Shannon as Dr Zarkov and Charles Middleton as his evil foe Ming the Merciless.

In Space Soldiers (1936), Flash, Dale and Zarkov travel by rocketship to the mysterious planet of Mongo to stop it colliding with the Earth, only to be stranded there by wicked Emperor Ming.

The serial's success was overwhelming, and Flash Gordon's Trip to Mars (1938) followed hot on its heels. This time Ming and Azura, Queen of Magic, plan to destroy the Earth by draining the nitrogen from its atmosphere with a powerful Nitron lamp. Flash, Dale and Zarkov set out to foil the plot, doing battle with Martians and the dreaded Clay People along the way.

Flash Gordon Conquers the Universe (1940) found Flash and the gang trying to prevent the spread of a deadly plague known as the Purple Death, Ming's latest attempt to control the Earth. Joining forces with Arboria, Prince Barin and Aura, our hero sets off to destroy the source of the death dust rays.

In 1980 Flash returned in what critics called 'a lavish but empty remake of the original', 'restaged at enormous expense 50 years after its prime'. Supergroup Queen's soundtrack was its saving grace.

After a cartoon remake the following year, Crabbe himself reappeared in the early 1980s TV series Buck Rogers in the 25th century, and it was at this time that audiences around the world lined up to catch the new wave in science fiction extravaganzas.

But it was Buster Crabbe and the daring adventures of outer space hero Flash Gordon that Championship boxing and all the talk of the trade with Gary Norman and his resident studio guest, former British Heavyweight Champion Gary Mason. This popular programme has a postbag of 1,000 letters each week, and as the pugilistic punters put it, 'Ringside has everything the boxing fan could want: fights, discussions, interviews, originality and presenters who know what they are talking about, and do so in layman's terms.'

Films CHAMPION

Bravo 8.00pm

Champion is a stark, realistic study of a boxer's rise to fame, and of how he alienates friends and family in the process. Excellent fight scenes move along at an unrelenting pace. The cast, under Michael Robson's direction, is superb, with Kirk Douglas as the boxer, Marilyn Maxwell as the ruthless mistress and Paul Stewart as the manager. Arthur Kennedy, who first entered movies back in 1940 in City For Conquest, and was still going strong in 1989's Signs of Life, received an Oscar nomination as Douglas's crippled brother.

Sport SUPERBOUTS

Sky Sports 10.00pm

Classic World Championship bouts from the past two decades. Tonight's big fight is from September 1978, when Muhammad Ali meets Leon Spinks in New Orleans seeking to avenge the loss of his crown through defeat by Spinks seven months earlier.

General OUTER LIMITS

Sky One 11.00pm

Viewers are transported from the inner mind to the outer reaches of the universe in this stylish science-fiction anthology series. Each week brings a different story with a new talented cast who dramatise the highly imaginative yet believable adventures.

BEYOND 2000

The Discovery Channel 6.00pm

The 'fat' enzyme: Have you ever wondered why all the weight people lose when they go on a diet is put straight back on when they stop? Researchers think they have found the answer - an enzyme which actually fights to put weight back on the body. It is said that some people become depressed when they don't get enough sunlight. Now you can buy a special lamp which replaces the valuable light needed, and which has the added bonus of treating jet-lag.

THE GREAT MOGHULS

The Discovery Channel 8.30pm

Anyone who enjoys a good story will enjoy this visually stunning series presented by Bamber Gascoigne. Leading wild and melodramatic lives, and ruling the Empire with extravagance and style, the men who created, led and ultimately lost the Great Moghul Empire are an irresistible bunch. Tonight's episode looks at Jahangir, who commissioned some of the most superb examples of Moghul art, and whose diary provides endearing insights into his love of animals and nature. An eye witness account of the Moghul court, written by England's first ambassador to India, gives us fascinating details of the Emperor's private parties and of how the Empire was effectively being run from within his harem.

Teenage comedy starring Woo Woo Kid Patrick Dempsey as a Beverly Hills pizza boy who finds himself romantically involved with four of the lonely women to whom he delivers. As surprised as anyone by his sudden Romeo status, Dempsey's liaisons soon lead to comic complications, not least with his high school girlfriend with whom he must be reconciled before school reconvenes after the Summer holidays. Well-played and good-natured, this fun tale comes courtesy of Crossing Delancey director Joan Micklin-Silver, and is not as tawdry as it first appears. Starring Barbara Carrera, Kirstie Alley, Carrie Fisher and Kim Miyori as the lonely ladies in question.

ALL QUIET ON THE WESTERN FRONT

The Movie channel
10.15am

Forget the modern colour version starring Richard 'John Boy Walton Thomas', Lewis Milestone's 1930 classic, shot originally as a silent and then reshot as an early talkie, is the only acceptable adaptation there will ever be of Eric Maria Remarque's testament to the lunacy of war. The film follows the lives of a group of German teenagers from when they idealistically join up at the insistence of their over-zealous patriot of a school teacher to their realisation of the terrible reality of war in the trenches of the Western Front. A poignant and memorable drama that won Oscars for Best Film and Best Direction, it features a remarkable performance from boyish lead Lou Ayres.

THE REBEL

Bravo 3.25pm

Tony Hancock plays a downtrodden city clerk who is thoroughly depressed with his life and determined to be a sculptor. Who wouldn't be, when the simple request for a cup of coffee without froth is met with sharp rebuttal? He decides to throw in his job and travels to Paris to become an artist which, predictably leads him from one disaster to another. Starring George Sanders and Paul Massie, and also a young Nannette Newman sporting hideous blue lipstick, this is classic Hancock at his best. Who else could be relied upon to start an art movement called 'The Infantile School'?

FRANKENSTEIN MEETS THE WOLFMAN

The Movie Channel

Lon Chaney, Jr. returns as Larry Talbot, better-known to his victims as the Wolfman, still searching the land for a cure to his terrible curse of lycanthropy. In Vasaria he comes face-to-face with Frankenstein's monster, played less than convincingly by Bela Lugosi, and revived by Dr Frank Mannering (Pattie Knowles). Mannering also tries to do something about Talbot's problem, but to no avail. The two horror heroes are soon rampaging through the nearby village, terrorising all and sundry and squabbling violently between themselves. Dwight Frye, excellent as Renfield in the 1931 Dracula and certainly shouting a lot when murdered by the monster in the original Frankenstein, turns up as a terrified villager. Watch out for Dennis Hoey, famous as Sherlock Holmes's Inspector Lestrade.

Handsomely produced and stylish blend of action and romance from director Tony Top Gun Scott. Kevin Costner plays Cochran, a Vietnam vet and Navy pilot who accepts an invitation from his powerful long-time friend Tiburon (Anthony Quinn) to visit him on his sprawling Mexican estate. Once there, Cochran finds himself drawn to Tiburon's beautiful young wife Miryrea (Madeline Stowe), although he well knows that any attempt to consummate their mutual desire would be fatal, such is the power of his friend's wrath. However, temptation overcomes them both, and Cochran is beaten and left in the desert, while Miryrea is confined in a Mexican brothel. Thus the scene is set for Cochran to claw himself back from the brink of death, rescue his new love and pay his old friend back in kind."

Films TWICE UPON A TIME

Sky Movies Plus 4.00pm
Astonishing, quick-witted animated film, made under the auspices of executive producer George Lucas and Oscar-winning documentary film-maker John Korty. Animated using a revolutionary process called LUMAGE (a highly sophisticated technique which, with the help of computer motion-control, far outstrips the depth, colour and texture possible with straightforward cel animation), the film is a far-flung, far-out fantasy with a crazy, colourful cast of characters, all voiced by improvisational comics who bring a new level of outrageous, spontaneous humour that will appeal to adults as much as to children. David Fincher, the director of the forthcoming Alien 3, provided Special Photographic Effects.

Sport INDY CAR GRAND PRIX

Sky Sports 7.00pm
Highlights of the Texaco/Havoline 200 from Elkhart Lake, Wisconsin. Michael Andretti, a Formula One hopeful for Ferrari next season, is on a hat-trick of wins, and holds the current race speed record of an average 126mph for the 200-mile race.

General CRAWL INTO MY PARLOUR

The Discovery Channel 4.00pm
Cold Blooded Killers: Things that bite, sting, pinch and ambush; high drama with sun spiders, scorpions and centipedes. The waltz of the scorpion may seem to be a Disney fantasy, but here we see it in reality, but this time to the tune of a minuet.

Comedy with George Formby at his box office peak, and Pat Kirkwood. George's ambition is to be a jockey, but the nearest he gets is selling ice creams at a racecourse. However, unforeseen events mean that George will soon be riding 'Maneater', the fiercest racehorse in town!

Sport TORQUE

Sky Sports 7.00am

The Peel Kart Grand Prix from the Isle of Man is the main feature this week, and is almost a mini-Monaco around the narrow streets and along the picturesque promenade of Peel. Other highlights feature Historic Saloons from Donnington, plus Stock Car racing on Red Line.

General FACTS OF LIFE

Sky One 5.00pm
 When four girls were first brought together at the Eastland School for Girls in Peekskill, New York, under the nurturing wing of housemother Edna Garrett, they seem unlikely candidates for a close friendship. This comedy highlights how their lives develop in different ways. The foundation of their friendship sees them through the many crises and celebrations they face now and the years ahead while they continue learning The Facts of Life.

Films MILLER'S CROSSING

The Movie Channel
10.05pm

Stylish and impossibly convoluted gangster melodrama from brothers Joel and Ethan Coen. Gabriel Byrne stars as Tom, a brooding, doleful Irish tough guy who works as an enforcer for influential crime boss Leo (Albert Finney). Tom is forced to break away from his friend and boss in order to clear up problems regarding rival gangster Johnny Caspar (John Polito). To complicate things further, both Tom and Leo are in love with Verna, the girl-friend of small-time hustler and trouble-maker Bernie Bernbaum. Stunningly re-created 1930s settings, crackling colloquial dialogue and fine performances all round make this the most fascinating of the recent spate of gangster pics.

Derby day

The War of the Roses and the Battle of the Sexes help to round up the Sunday League season on Sky Sport this month . . .

THE SUNDAY LEAGUE season concludes this month with action right through to the pulling of the stumps. Three of this month's scheduled fixtures are the high-profile local derbies, while the first live game of August is unique in the history of the limited overs one-day game.

Sussex meet Hampshire on Monday 3rd, an unusual date for a Sunday league fixture! It was rearranged from July owing to clashes with the B&H Cup and, in the absence of suitable Sundays in a hectic season, the Home Counties clash becomes the first ever Sunday League game to be played on a Monday.

Two other ties this month are hard-fought derbies; Yorkshire vs

Lancashire on Sunday 2nd, and Middlesex vs Essex on Sunday 9th.

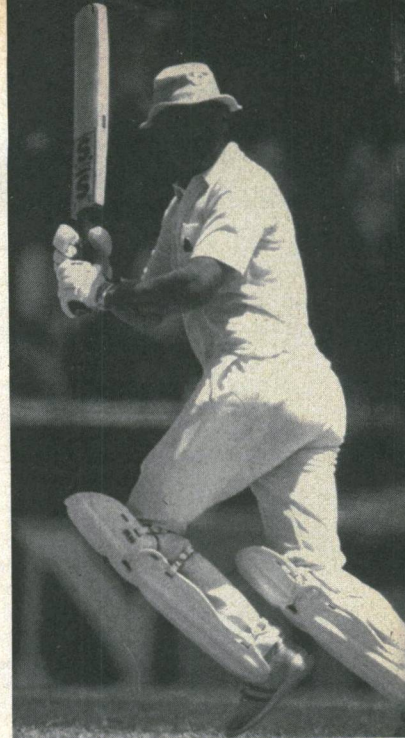

The 'War of the Roses' clash is always controversial, the rivalry between the neighbours intense, while Sky commentators Geoffrey Boycott and David Lloyd add to the partisan atmosphere. Last year's match at Old Trafford produced record receipts for a Sunday League game, with 16,000 watching the match. If the weather is good, you can expect the record to be beaten as decades of rivalry continue at Headingley.

The highest profile game in the South of the country is undoubtedly Essex vs Middlesex. Both teams are captained by recent England captains, Essex by Graham Gooch and Middlesex by Mike Gatting, and both lend several players to the national side. It's debatable whether more England internationals could be gathered on one pitch in a County game. The two counties have dominated the three-day game for the past decade, while Essex are the all-time one-day Kings of cricket, with a more successful Sunday League record than any other county.

The Battle of the Sexes could never be as big as the Roses game, but 'naughty' Nasser Hussain and Middlesex's Mark Ramprakash are the dashing young blades to watch in 92.

The clash of the England captains should not be missed. ■

FERRARI F40

Franklin Mint Precision Models presents the definitive die-cast replica of the awesome sports car bred for power, speed and performance.

Actual size of approximately 7 1/4" long, 1:24 scale.

It's the best of the breed! A very special creation of the great car manufacturer Enzo Ferrari. Re-created with amazing detail – from the prancing horse emblem to the louvred rear window.

Named to honour Ferrari's 40th Anniversary as a Grand Marque, this thoroughbred Grand Tourer delivers 478 horse-power and speeds of over 200 miles an hour. It's so hard to obtain that some have paid over £1.5 million to own one.

The die-cast replica, too, is an unbridled beauty. Authorised by Ferrari itself. So detailed you can even see the shoulder harnesses. So go with the winner.

Priced at £95 payable in convenient monthly instalments.

©1992 Franklin Mint Limited, Bromley Road, London SE6 2XG. Company registered in England No. 357382.

The bonnet opens to reveal specially made Ferrari luggage

The boot lifts to show the twin-turbo dohc V-8.

The rich detail extends from the tyre treads to the famed Ferrari marque.
